MONEY MARKET. Tuesday, Sept. 32-6 P. M.
The stock market was very heavy to-day, and prices fell of a little. North American Trust declined & per cent, Norwish & Worcester & and Harlem & The market is very much depressed. At the second board the sales of Harlem and Norwich

The books for subscriptions to the stock of the New York and Hartford Railroad will be opened in Hartford, New Britain, Farmington and Bristol, on the 28th inst. Subscriptions amounting to about $240,000 have already been pledged in Hartford, and it is expected they will be increased to an amount in the towns interested suffi-cient to construct the road from Hartford to Bristol, and perhaps further.

Bank, manufacturing and insurance stocks are not in demand, and very few sales have been made. The approaching dividends on these securities, estimated at a proaching dividends on these securities, estimated at a little of dollars, have a tendency to keep these stocks.

received a large accession of business from its great feed-er, the Western road, and its shares have in consequence advanced in price, and are in demand. The increase on tae Western Railroad is already three and a half per cent over last year's net receipts, which were five and half per cent, beside the interest accraing on the half million in the sinking tunds, which is equal to I per cent more on the share capital, making the total ten per cent, subjected, however, to increased expenses, which will probably be covered by the gain in receipts for the remaining third of the year.

The Boston and Maine road is said to have gained sent a bar to a renewed application for an independent some to this city. The gain on the Norwich road this year to the 1st inst. is $10,798. The Long Island road also exhibits a handsome increase since the raising of the fares from the former ruinously low rates. The sub-scription to the Michigan Central road has been filled, and the purchasers have cause to congratulate them-selves upon securing such a valuable and productive work of internal improvement in the great West. Bos-ton capital has entered largely into this purchase, and Boston management will secure its success.

Gleanings.

Mr. Buchanan arrived from his northern excursion this evening. To-morrow is cabinet day, so that he is just in season for a deliberate consultation upon the question of a peace with Mexico, through the proposed intervention of Great Britain. We rather suspect the proposition will be respectfully declined.

We may accept it, however, in another form. Great Britain will doubtless recommend to Mexico the submission to our government of overtures

Messrs. Owen, Hough and Sotten, of the Executive Committee of the Smithsonian Institution, have been and are still, busily employed inspecting marble quarries, public buildings, &c., and in hunting up ideas, plans, specifications, &c. of the proposed buildings, among the artists and architects of the north. We are determined, in the language of Mr. Choate, that said buildings shall "be worthy the liberal and enlightened donor, and of this nation, and of the age."

The city, particularly around the suburbs, in the neighborhood of the interminable morasses and marshes by which it is environed, has been unusually sickly this teason, owing to the great rains of the summer. A large number of cases of fever, and fever and ague still prevail. Almost every day since our return, we have encourtered the unwelcome apparition of a funeral procession. We are glad, however, to be able to report, that this autumnal epidemic is abating.

The Methodists, since their late camp meetings, have been prospering, and are still going ahead, with most prospering revivals in several of their churches. The devil has for a long time had the balance of power here, but the brethren have resolved that with the aid of the spirit they will expel "Old Clontie" from the corporation. Amen't we have fairly gotten him out of the White House; but the old rascal is lingering about the capitol with folded arms, awaiting the return of Congress. If the brethren would only held a night meeting in the rounda, we think they might scare him out. Last session, with all that the chaplains could do, they could not keep him out of the House or the Senate for two days consecutively; and on several occasions he is suspected of having stood by the Speaker's chair, or close by the side of the Vice Pres dent, whispering devitry in his ear. We pray that he may be expelled the corporation.

OLD ROUGH AND READY.

PRILADELPHIA Sept. 22, 1846.

The Corener was yesterday called upon to hold an inquest upon the body of Wesley Flavel, who died suddenly the night previous, by injuries received in falling is the same person, who about two years since was convicted of killing his niece, while making an attempt upon the life of his wife, who was also wounded by the upon the life of his wife, who was also wounded by the same discharge. Though ably defended, (Flavel was a man of property) he was sentenced to twelve years imprisonment, but Governor Forter pardoned him on condition that he would leave the United States. This he did, but returned after a short visit to Europe, was again arrested, and the question as to his liability to serve out the remainder of his sentence coming up before the Supreme Court, it was decided that he must either be incarcerated, or leave the country at once. His friends again placed him on board a vessel bound to a foreign carcerated, or leave the country at once. His friends sgain placed him on board a vessel bound to a foreign clime, but he again returned, and had been living some time with his wile in Kenslogton, where his property was situated. He also resumed the intemperate habits which had been the cause of so much misery; and on Monday evening while brutalized by rum, he threatened to kill his wife, and was in the act of rushing down the stairway in search of a gun, with which to fulfit his bloody threat, when the retribution of an overruling Providence overtook him, and pitching headlong down the flights he was taken up insensible, and a few hours afterwards he expired, the blow upon his head having caused a concussion of the brain. I feel disposed to preach a sermon upon the awful warning the history of this man's life affords to all to avoid the drunksard's late, but my time and your space will not permit.

A stone mason residing at Port Richmond was yesterday killed, by a coal train passing over him on the Reading Railroad. He had leaped off a coal train, not seeing that a second one was following, when he was overtaken by it before he could get off the track, and instantly killed.

A very large audience was attracted to the Arch street theatre, last evening, to witness the representation of Richard the Third, in a most brilliant style. The dressee are splendid, the scenery in keeping with the time, and location of the play, and the acting superior in
